

GERMAN ENVOY IN GALLERY

While Speeches on Naval Question were Being Given in House of Commons

A DISCOVERY AT OTTAWA

Observation: were Transmitted in Code Last Night to the Government of the Kaiser

Ottawa, March 10.—The news leaked out here last night that a secret service agent in the employ of the German government has been a constant listener to the debate on the naval bill from the galleries of the House of Commons during the past few weeks. He has been in daily communication with Berlin, and not a move has been made on the parliamentary chess board without being fully noted and flashed across the page in code form. The fact that the agent is here watching proceedings has been brought home to many members of parliament the deep interest Germany is taking in the creation of a Canadian navy is keen, and that she is on the qui vive for information as to the views of the representatives of the Canadian people in Parliament. Throughout the whole of the speech on both sides the intentions of Germany in respect to naval predominance have been the subject of comment and while most of the supporters of the government have pushed any hostile aspirations towards England on the part of the German Empire, the opposition have pointed out from speeches of English statesmen that the crisis between the two nations is impending. This view is held also by even such a staunch government supporter as Col. McLean, of Queens and Sunbury. In any event the doings of parliament for the past few weeks of debate have reached the ear of the kaiser daily through the medium of his agent perched up in the public gallery of the House of Commons.

Two Men Drowned in P. E. I.

Charlottetown, P. E. I., March 10.—While crossing the ice on the Murray river, half a mile from the village of the same name last night, L. R. McLaughlin, of St. John, N.B., travelling for the Canadian Drug Co. and Angus Martin, driver of team, broke through the ice and were drowned. Martin's body was found this morning, but McLaughlin's is still in the river.

A NATION-WIDE STRIKE

Following the spring meeting yesterday of the Pennsylvania state federation of labor at which resolutions were adopted asking that the American Federation of Labor call a national strike, some of the delegates express the fear that the meeting was too precipitate in its action and some are openly charging that the convention was stamped by W. D. Mahan, president of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway employees.

CONSERVATIVE DELEGATES

Representatives of Edmonton Federal District Chosen for Convention in Ottawa

The delegates to represent the local Conservatives at the Dominion convention to be held in Ottawa in June, were chosen last night at the meeting of the Edmonton federal district Conservative Association, held in Hounsfield Hall. They are as follows: R. Scott, A. F. Ewing, J. R. McIntosh, H. D. Johnson, H. L. Landry, Lucien Dubois, H. A. Mackie, A. M. Calderon, F. G. Haldane, A. Driscoll, D. Jamieson, J. W. G. Morrison, A. L. Cook, Mr. Landy, W. R. Shields and Frank Knight, with three more delegates to be elected still for the outside associations. Fourteen alternates were nominated for the city and a committee was appointed to fill any vacancy that may occur in the delegation before the convention takes place.

The following were appointed to fill vacancies on the executive committee: P. G. Haldane, Edmonton; Thos. Porter, Stony Plain, and Frank Knight, Sunnyside. Mr. A. M. Calderon was appointed secretary.

Several resolutions were passed as follows: "Resolved, that in the opinion of this meeting the government of Canada should immediately offer to the government of Great Britain a sufficient sum of money to purchase and fully equip at least two of the most modern and powerful battleships as a free gift from the people of Canada, for the defence of the empire."

"And further resolved that a copy of this resolution be sent to Mr. P. L. Borden at Ottawa and that it be given due publicity."

Other resolutions passed dealt with the restoration to the province of the lands, timber and minerals now held by the federal government, and further that in the opinion of the meeting the time had now arrived when an effort should be made to bring about a system of free trade within the empire.

The meeting was largely attended, both city and rural associations being well represented.

SIDEWALKS IN AWFUL STATE

Many City Officials Agree Snow Should be Cleaned off—Present By-Law Inadequate

There is, on the books of the city of Edmonton, a certain by-law dealing with the cleaning of snow off the sidewalks. The by-law in question, however, must be hoary with age, for it confines the district in which the sidewalks must be cleaned to Jasper avenue from Namayo to Third street. Imagine it.

There are, roughly speaking, about twenty-five thousand people in Edmonton, that make use of at least one-half the streets. There are in the city ninety miles of streets. Supposing only half of them are used at all regularly, then there are still forty-five miles of streets, the sidewalks of which may be left piled high with snow and slush. And only a piece of one street, a half a mile in extent at the very outside, is kept in a condition at all in keeping with a city of the pretensions of Edmonton. And it might be pointed out that even on Jasper avenue from Namayo to Third kept as free from slush and ice as they might be.

The Powers Interviewed.

In view of the existing bad state of affairs, the Capital Interviewer May Lee and others in regard to the matter.

"We set to work last fall to improve the existing by-law," said the mayor, "but it never got any further. It is most certainly a good idea to have the sidewalks cleaned, but the question is, could such a by-law be enforced?"

"We never hear of the snow by-law at all except after a big fall of snow such as we had the other night," continued his worship. "As a rule we don't get much snow here. One fall in Montreal is about equal to the whole winter here."

"We not use some of the methods that are now being carried out in some of the larger Eastern cities," asked the Capital.

"Well," replied the mayor, "that is a matter that would have to be gone into thoroughly before I could say anything."

Ald. Garney thinks that it is high time something more was done to keep the sidewalks in better condition.

"The city might very easily take over the whole thing and include it in the taxes," suggested he.

Ald. McKinley had a somewhat similar suggestion. "I think that the city should do all the cleaning of sidewalks in the winter," said he, "and so give employment to any men that might be out of work. Then the cost of the work would be charged up to the property owners, or the tenants, on a frontage basis of taxation."

Ald. Mould brought the matter up in the last meeting of the city council, but the question was allowed to drop without any action being taken. Mr. Mould had some strong statements to make, however.

INCREASES VERY LARGE

British Government Makes Provision for Very Considerable Armaments

MINISTER MAKES STATEMENT

Formation of New Mobilization Department and Permanent Naval War Council Proposed.

London, March 10.—The new estimates for 1910 which were issued by the admiralty last night provide for an expenditure of £20,000,000, an increase is almost wholly taken up by the building of armaments authorized by parliament before dissolution. The new programme provides for five large armored ships, five protected cruisers, 20 destroyers and a considerable number of submarines. By April 1 there will be under construction seven battleships, 3 armored cruisers, 30 destroyers and nine submarines. The estimates provide further for an increase of 3,000 men in the personnel of the navy and the completion during 1911 of two floating dry docks to accommodate the largest battleships. These will be stationed at Portsmouth and Midway. Reginald McKenna, first lord of the Admiralty, in an explanatory statement, announced the formation of a new naval mobilization department and permanent naval war council consisting of the First Sea Lord as President, Directors of Naval Intelligence and Navy Mobilization department, and other officials to deal with all matters relating to preparation for war.

LETTER THIEF ON TRIAL

Numerous Witnesses Will be Called at Trial of Desire Dues Two Criminal Cases

There were several criminal cases up before Judge Taylor in the District Court this morning. Desire Dues is charged with two offences, namely, abstracting a letter from the post office box forged by Garney & Landry, and forging the endorsement on a cheque which he obtained from letter and cashing said cheque. Defendant pleaded not guilty to both counts. E. B. Cogswell is appearing for the Crown and H. A. Mackie for the defence.

Postmaster May gave evidence describing how letters had been missed from the box, owing to the broken glass in the front. The police were arrested and hid in his private office. Detective Ernest Seymour testified hiding in the postmaster's private office and by means of a hole bored in the partition saw Dues about 7:30 a.m., February 25th, put his hand through the broken pane in Garney & Landry's box and abstract a letter. Dues was immediately put under arrest.

The hearing of the case will be resumed this afternoon as there are numerous witnesses to be examined. Harry Jambrecht is also to open this afternoon charged with obtaining $20 and $25 from the Traveler's Bank under false pretences. The prisoner pleaded not guilty of the charge.

No judge shall be entitled to be registered as a voter till six months have elapsed from the date of his resignation from the bench. MESCI PAYS THE PENALTY

Quill Lake Murderer Hanged at the Jail in Prince Albert This Morning

Prince Albert, March 10.—Without a flinch, steady as though he were going out on a walk, the self-confessed murderer of Quill Lake, went to his doom in the local jail at 8 o'clock this morning. Mesci walked to the scaffold with a look almost of triumph in his eyes, that if so called a commiseration can be said to be expressive of anything. He was fully convinced that he had been forgiven by Jesus and was going straight to heaven. He has confessed right along and Rev. Mr. Young, his spiritual adviser, told your correspondent this morning that his mind was quite made up. He also had breakfast this morning, the regular meal and some dainties afterwards. The crime for which Mesci paid the supreme penalty was one of the most brutal in the province. He came upon Mrs. Geo. Thorburn of Quill Lake, whom he worked in the field, and telling her to prepare herself, brutally did her to death with an axe. He then killed Geo. Thorburn, her husband, and Mrs. McNeven, Mr. Thorburn's mother-in-law. He was sentenced at Saskatoon by Judge Wetmore on December 16. Considerable effort was made to get a reprieve but without avail.

A CHANCE FOR HONUS WAGNER

Leading Batters of National and American Leagues Will Each get an Automobile—Honk! Honk!

New York, March 9.—As an extra inducement for the players of the two big major leagues to lead their respective organizations in hitting this year a motor car company has guaranteed the star batter of each league a $2000 power machine. The company suggested the offer to the National Commission and that body accepted it without delay. As Honus Wagner is an automobile bug and chances are that he will shag that ball as he never did before to get one of the cars.

TROLLEY LEAGUE DIES HARD

Caretaker of Berlin Rink had to go Round at Finish of Game and Wake up Spectators

There were exactly 48 paid admissions at the last Trolley League game at Waterloo. "Black" Irving's successor at Galt was "Sponey" Ellison, the former Toronto streetcar jockey. His first experience in pro hockey cost him about $800 for two or three weeks.

In Ottawa it is stated that Berlin will not be given games for the Stanley Cup. They remember Galt. The caretaker of the Berlin rink had to go around and wake up some of the spectators at the close of last night's Galt-Berlin pro, fixture. It was the tamest affair ever seen on Berlin ice. In fact, it wasn't hockey but simply a burlesque.

Magistrate Livingston, of Brantford, yesterday dismissed the charges of disorderly conduct and fighting against Harvey Corbett, Ben Dusty, Reg. Sandford and Hugh Lehman. He considered that their scrapping was as big a burlesque as their playing.

The Berlin town fathers yesterday indignantly refused to grant the Berlin club $50 towards a Stanley Cup hunting expedition. The wise Berlin burghers know how much chance the Trolley champions had in Ottawa. The promoters of the Brantford professional hockey club report a deficit for the year. Injuries to players helped to increase the deficit, as the policy of the Brantford club has always been to pay players their full salary to the end of the season when incapacitated. Mr. Connelly of Belleville might write and ascertain if this is true. He received $10 and a broken nose, and had to pay his railroad expenses.

FRED LAKE GETS SLIPPERS

Admirer Presents him with Necessary Bedroom Adjuncts—Is it a Hint for Freddy to Stay in his Boudoir?

Fred Lake, Ottawa's celebrated point man, is the proud possessor of a resplendent pair of red, white and black bedroom slippers. They were presented to him by an ardent admirer of the team, Mr. H.D. Bonlay, of 28 Lyon street, who made them himself. Mr. Bonlay made a vow, during the progress of the recent Ottawa-Wanderers match when the score was 4-5 in favor of the latter team, that the players who tied the score should get a pair of slippers as a reward for his good work. (The next goal was netted by Lake, and Mr. Bonlay kept his word. The slippers are really of beautiful design and a very acceptable addition to any collection of footwear.—Ottawa Journal.

RESERVE YOUR SEATS

The plan of seats for the second Fit-Reform game between Edmonton and Prince Albert is now open at the Haid Gigue store and those intending to be present would be wise in getting their seats early as a monster crowd is expected.

The score is now 0-0 and tomorrow's game should be a hammer. We do not get many chances to see fast pro teams in action and everybody in Edmonton should take this opportunity.

Mr. Foster promises a drop in the temperature so the ice should be in A-1 shape.

Hay Miller Did It

"The point of Millars elbow on the tenderest bone in a man's body just as I put full force into a shot put me away," said Bruce Stuart. This statement vindicates Frank Patrick, who was credited with sending the Ottawa captain to the hospital with the end of his stick. Bruce will be able to remove his arm from the sling in a couple of weeks.

The obituaries in the Ontario pro league have reached the "wake" stage. Galt and Berlin are playing post-season games.

EDMONTON AND PRINCE ALBERT PLAYED TIE GAME

Two Teams Played 60 Minutes Without a Score—Players are Evenly Matched

WAS FIRST GAME FOR FIT REFORM CUP

The Attendance was Over 700 and the Excitement at All Times was Intense—Lynn, Kent and McLeod did not play but their Places were Well Filled—Deaton and Crawford were Stars of their Respective Teams, while McGannon, Winchester and B. Banford also Shone—Get Your Seats for Friday Early Edmonton hockey fans had the opportunity of witnessing a game last evening that for closeness and excitement has never been excelled in this province.

The competing teams, Edmonton Pros and Prince Albert, champions of Saskatchewan, met in the first game of the series for the Fit-Reform Cup. It was sterling hockey from the word go and the two teams battled for 60 minutes without either net being bulged by the puck. The second half was so fast that the spectators didn't realize the game was over when the referee rang his bell, and sat in their seats reluctant to leave the arena.

The ice was not particularly soft but the surface was sticky and slowed up the teams a little, as both prefer hard ice. But in spite of this handicap all the players stuck to it as if their lives depended on the result and were going even faster at the finish than at the beginning.

Attendance Was Large.

The Thistle Rink was crowded, between 800 and 900 people being present, and they showed their appreciation of the splendid work of both teams in no uncertain manner. At Friday night's game, however, York should be selling standing room on the rafters, as there is no doubt a crowd will be in attendance that will tax the rink to its capacity.

Lynn, Kent and McLeod, the Strathcona recruits failed to put in an appearance, but their places were creditably filled by McGannon, McKenney and Gordon Banford of the Deacons, who showed that fast company was no novelty to them.

Individual Work of P. A.

Prince Albert are a finely built bunch of players and showed lightning speed but are prone to rely on individual efforts instead of trusting to combination. Though their forwards got away numerous times, Bill Banford and McGannon had no difficulty in stopping these one-man rushes. The cup holders worked in some nice combination rushes and only by hard shooting would surely have annexed a few counters. In deed, in the second half they rained shots in on Leach, the Prince Albert goalie, but he had no difficulty in turning them aside.

Edmonton Played Well.

There were three men who stood out above their team-mates, and they were Harold Deaton and McGannon of the locals and Crawford of the visitors. Deaton was the best man on the ice and his splendid rushes brought the audience to its feet on numerous occasions. McGannon made a brilliant cover-point and Billy Banford clearly showed that he has few peers at his position.

As for Jack Winchester, John was a veritable wizard and one of his stops was the best ever seen here. No wonder Montreal Shamrocks wanted to keep him there. Freddy McKenney played a nice game in the first half and got a number of nasty falls from C. Bailey which tended to take some of the steam out of Fred, in the second half. Bert Bonfous showed flashes of his old-time form, but did not play his usual consistent game, being inclined to lag at times. Gordon Banford on the other wing was good at times and always outplayed his check, but was slow getting started on his rushes.

The Visitors' Team

Crawford was the best of the visitors and has a world of speed. He would be a very dangerous man on hard ice. McDowell at cover is a heavy man and used his body to good effect, but was never dirty like the point player, C. Bailey. B. Leach in goal performed everything asked of him to the King's taste and had a perfect batting average. Banks at centre, has a little habit of tripping that should be cut out as it interferes with his effectiveness. He has no need to resort to dirty tactics as he is a good forward. Black and A. Leach are a husky pair of wings and play the boards in fine style. They are not there with the shooting however. Referee Pete Barley was death on offside and kicking and gave satisfaction to both teams. (The judge of play was very fair, only making one

PRESTON DEFEATED BARRIE COLTS

These Two Game Junior Teams Played in Slush to the Boot Tops—Hockey out of the Question

Last Saturday night Johnny Dymont's Barrie Colts met defeat at the hands of the Preston team by a score of 4-2. The winners now play off with the Kingston Frontenacs for the O.H.A. junior championship. Saturday's game was just a plain case of luck as the ice was in such shape that hockey was out of the question. Here is how a Toronto paper describes it:

"The ice—beet garden, the stuff that used to be ice—at Mutual Street Rink was awful. Why at half-time, when the ice-cleaners went across it the scrapers carried a howl like Lot Solom's Blenheim making a hurry-up trip across the bay for a hungry mob of baseball fans. Around centre the cleaners puddled and scraped until the splinters bobbed around like cork in an eddy, and there was as much icy mush there when they finished as when they started. At both goal mouths the water was a bootleg deep. Indeed, if either goal-keeper had sense enough to come in out of the rain, without being called, he would have worn rubber boots, an oilskin suit and a son-wetter, and had a lifebuoy slung over both posts, or else borrowed a scow and anchored off the goal crease.

Hockey? He—! Well, anyway, the boys did the best they could. They gave a versatile exhibition of indoor baseball, water polo, fancy diving, wading, paddling, football, and wood-chopping, to which Referee Wally Fern adapted hockey rules, and as a result Preston are finalists for junior O.H.A. honors."

CANADIAN HORSE FOR DERBY

Ralsion, Owned by R. M. Dale, Qu'Appelle, May Win the Classic Epsom Fixture of 1911

Winnipeg, March 9.—When the multitudes of crowds gather on the hills of Epsom to witness the race for the Derby of 1911, there may be many there who will cheer for a Canadian victory. In the list of entries for the race appears a colt by Ralsion, owned by R. M. Dale, of Qu'Appelle, Sask. Mr. Dale will be the first resident of Canada to cry his luck for the prize, and from one end of the Dominion to the other he will have the well wishes of his fellow colonials. Though men of millions have failed it may now be so with the man from the west. A win or lose, however, the entry will be a great advertisement.

McGRAW WANTS WILLIE KEELER

The Members of the Old Baltimore Team are Extremely Clannish—Joe Kelley Also After Dismutiv Outfielder

Baltimore, March 9.—Johnny McGraw is hot after Willie Keeler. He wired him yesterday that he would pay him a salary of $5000, and Mac now is waiting for word from the "Wee One." If Mac could get Willie, he would put him in the game and take a chance on Willie hanging out a few more of those timely, well-placed hits that made him famous while a member of the Baltimore pennant-winning team.

In fact, Mudgey has become enthusiastic over the idea of landing Keeler. He says Bill would make a great coach for his youngsters, for there never was a ballplayer in the world who ever had anything on Willie when it came to placing his hits. No men ever pulled the hit-and-run game like McGraw and himself, and if Mack and Willie could teach the New York Giants how they used to do the stunts that made the Orioles famous in baseball history Keeler would be well worth his little $5000.

Keeler Still Good.

Aside from the fact that Keeler still has a chance to play real, good ball, for he has taken care of himself, McGraw thinks a great deal of him. They were great friends when the pair played here together. In fact, the members of the "Big Four" are possibly as chummy as any four men could be. It is rather an unusual thing for four such stars to be so friendly, for the little green-eyed monster usually creeps in and breaks up things. But the secret of the success of the famous old Orioles was that the star players were close personal friends.

Big Four Are Friends.

The great regret that the men have for each other has been shown in many ways since the day they trotted over Union Park. Take McGraw, for instance and see how eager he is to have Robinson with him every spring, and now he is after Keeler. On the other hand, Hughie Jennings and Joe Kelley are as just as true and loyal. There is plenty of room in organized baseball for little Willie Keeler and there are many owners of teams who would take a chance on spending considerable money to get Willie's services.

The manner in which Frank Farrell, owner of the New York Yankees, treated Willie when he let him out shows how he felt toward the little outfielder. He made Keeler a free agent when he could have sold him for a neat sum of money to either McGraw or Bill Dahlen, of Brooklyn. But Farrell, in the goodness of his heart, realized that Willie had always worked hard in the interests of the Yankees, so he did not want to send him to any club where things might be disagreeable.

Old Robbie Robinson, also formerly of the Orioles, is down at Marlin Springs coaching the pitchers of McGraw's bunch. He was delighted when he heard that McGraw had made an offer to Keeler. Many of the other players were delighted, too, for Willie is popular with every man in the business.

BONHAG AND TAIT AGAIN

These Two Runners Will Meet in a Special Race at New York on March 15th

New York, March 9.—George Bonhag, the speedy runner, has been matched against Jack Tait, the Canadian star for a special race of a mile and one-half, in connection with the games of the New York Athletic Club, at Madison Square Garden, on March 15.—Bonhag traveling a mile, finishing easily last night, at the Xaxier High school games, in four minutes, and 25 seconds. It is believed that he is good for a longer distance, at almost the same rate, and as Tait is the undisputed wonder over that course, the race will be one of the best for many months.

Victorias Beat Ottawa

Ottawa, Mar. 10.—Victorias of Montreal, defeated the Ottawa Cliffside last evening by 4 to 3 in the final game for the interprovincial championship. Hale and Bowie started for the Vics. Cliffside won the round by one goal and now play Queens on Saturday for Allan trophy.

What's in a Name?

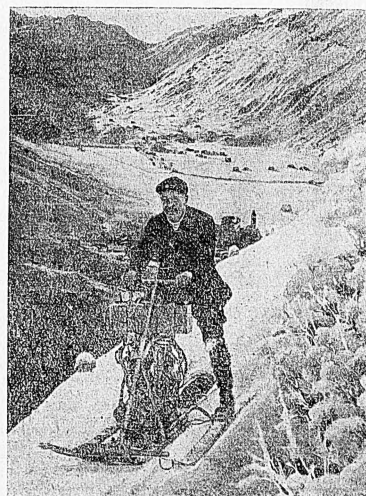

"Sam Bilsky" sounds something like the name of the man who is donating the new N.L.U. trophy, and President St. Pere doesn't seem to take kindly to the donation. Quite a come-down for the N.L.U., you know, to desert an Earl of Minto Cup and come down to playing for a plain Sam Bilsky Cup.

of the upper terrace, a wide terrace that washed between solid walls of masonry, which rose to a height of not less than ten feet on either side. There were two driveways, each paved, but always practicable. A small stationery bridge crossed the vicious stream immediately below the hanging garden and led to the ladder by which one ascended to the caverns that ran far back into the mountain. Two big black irregular holes in the face of the cliff marked the entrance to these deep, rambling caves, wonderful caverns wrought by the convulsions of the dead volcano, cracks made by these splintering earthquakes when the island was new.

The garden hung high between the building and the cliff, a long by a score of great steel cables. These cables were riveted solidly in the solid rock of the cliff at one end and fastened at the other to the stone walls of the chateau at the other. It swung stanchly from its moorings with the constancy of a suspension bridge and trembled at the slightest touch.

It was at least a hundred feet square. The floor was covered with a foot or more of soil, in which grew grass and plants of the tropics. Cool fountains sprayed the air at either end of the green inclosure. The situation was complete.

The walls surrounding the garden were three feet high and were intended to represent the typical English garden wall of brick. To gain access to the hanging garden one crossed a narrow bridge which led from the second balcony of the chateau. There was not an hour in the day when protection from the sun could not be found in this little paradise.

Bobby Brown was holding forth with his usual exuberance on the magnificence of the British navy.

"There she is now, sleeping out there in the harbor, a great big thing with the kindest of hearts inside of these steel ribs—her majesty's ship the King's Own! Think of it! She carries a private yacht, she stops off at this beautiful island to catch her breath and to see that all are safe, then she charges off into the horizon like a bird that has no home. May I offer you a cigarette, princess? By the way, I wonder how Chase came off with his side show."

"Saunders tells me that he was near to being lacerated, but luck was with him," said Deppingham. "His ship came home."

"It was a daring trick. I'm glad he pulled it off. He's a man, that fellow," said Brown. "See, princess, away up there in the mountain is his home. There's a light. See it? It keeps rather late hours, you see."

"Tell me about him," said the princess devoutly. She arose and walked to the vine covered wall, followed by Bobby Brown.

"I don't know much to tell you," said he. "He's made an enemy or two, but they are trying to drive him out. We've asked him down here just because we can't bear to think of a fellow creature wasting his days in utter loneliness, but he has so far declined with thanks. The islanders are beginning to hate him. They distrust him, Britt says. Of course you know why we are here, you?"

"Every one knows, Mr. Brown. You are the most interesting quartet in the world just now. Every one is wondering how it is going to end. What a pity you can't marry Lady Agnes!"

"Oh, I say? protested Brown. She laughed merrily.

"But how dull it must be for Mr. Chase! Does he complain?"

"I can't say that, but I think that his lawyer—Britt says he's never heard a murmur from him. He takes his medicine with a smile. I like that sort of fellow, and I wish he'd be a little more friendly."

"He has learned to know and keep his place," said she coolly. Perhaps she was thinking of his last night in the palace garden. Away up there in the darkness gleamed his single, lonely, pathetic little light. "Don't it strike you, Mr. Brown, that his light should be burning at 2 o'clock in the morning? Is it his custom to sit up?"

"I've never noticed it. I hope nothing serious has happened to him. He may have been injured. I say, if you don't mind, I'll ask some one to telephone up to his place."

"Yes, do telephone," she broke in. "I am sure Lady Deppingham will approve. No, thank you. I will stand here awhile. It is cool, and I love the stars." Five minutes later he returned to her, accompanied by Lady Agnes. She was still looking at the stars.

"Lady Deppingham called him up," said Bobby.

"He was answered in person," said she.

her ship. "He seemed strangely agitated for a moment or two, Geneva, and then he laughed—yes, laughed in my face, although it was such a long way off. I asked him if he was ill or had been hurt. He said he never felt better in his life and hadn't a scratch. He laughed—I suppose to show me that he was all right. Then he asked me to thank you for bringing a warship. You saved his life. Really one would think you were quite a heroine or a gododdor something like that. I never heard anything sweeter than the way he said good night to me. There!"

The light in the luncheon bobbed mysteriously for an instant and then went out.

"How far is it from here?" asked the princess abruptly.

"Nearly two miles as the crow flies, only there are no crows here. Five miles by the road, I fancy. Isn't it, Bobby? I call him Bobby, you know, when we are all on good terms. I don't see why I shouldn't if you stop to think how near to being married to each other we are at this very instant."

"I wonder if he could reach him quickly in the event of an attack."

"It could if he'd have the kindness to notify us by phone," said Brown. "But he wouldn't telephone to us," said Lady Deppingham ruefully. "He's not so communicative as that."

"Surely he would call upon you for help if he had," said Bobby.

"You don't know him, Geneva. The princess smiled in a vague sort of way. "I've met him quite informally, if you remember."

"I should say it was informally. It's the most delicious story I've ever heard. You must tell it to Mr. Brown, dear. It's all about the enemy in Thorberg. Mr. Brown. There's your wife calling, Bobby. She wants you to tell her story about the bishop who rang the doorbell!"

The next morning the captain of the King's Own came ashore and was taken to the chateau for breakfast. Late in the afternoon the marquis and his party, saying farewell to the princess and the revived legation, put out to the yacht and steamed away in the wake of the great warship. The yacht was to return in a month to pick up the princess.

Geneva, her maid, her men and her boxes, her poodle and her dachshund were left behind for the month of March—not without making it worth while, he said, for the marquis, her uncle, was not disposed to look upon the island situation as a spot of long continued peace.

"You won't be able to get help as cleverly and as timely as that American chap not it last night," protested the marquis. "Warships don't house around like gulls, you know. Karl will never forgive me if I leave you here."

"Karl is of a very forgiving nature, however," said Geneva sweetly.

"He forgave you for defending Mr. Chase, because you are such a nice Englishman. I've induced him to forgive Mr. Chase because he's such a nice fellow. Chase—although Mr. Chase doesn't seem to know it—I'm quite sure Karl would shake his hand if he were here. Leave Karl to me, uncle."

And so they sailed away without her, just as she had intended from the beginning. Lord Deppingham stood beside her on the pier as the ship started, waved his adieu to the yacht.

"I hope no harm comes to you here in this beautiful place!"

My dear, Geneva, I hope no harm comes to you here in this beautiful place!" said he, a look of anxiety in his honest eyes. "There goes our salvation if any rumour should come up. We can't call 'em out of the sky as Chase did last night. Lucky beggar! That fellow Chase is righting, by Jove! That's what he is. I wish I was up his heart a bit and ask us into that devilish American bar of his."

"He owes us something for the warship we delivered to him last night," said Bobby. "He has made good with his warship story, after all, thanks to the King's Own and Britt."

"And the fairy princess," added Lady Deppingham.

"I am doubly glad I came if you include me in the miracle," said Geneva, shuddering a little as she looked at the leaping flames. "Isn't it rather more of a miracle that I should come upon mine ancient champion, in this uncharted corner of the globe?"

"I'd like to hear the story of Chase and his adventures in the queen's garden," murmured Bobby Brown.

"I'll tell it to you tonight, my child," said the princess as they started for the palanquin.

Hollingsworth Chase dodged into the American bar just in time to escape the charge of spying.

CHAPTER XIII. MR. SAUNDERS HAS A PLAN. MISS PELHAM'S affair with Thomas Saunders by this time had reached the stage where observation of a lieutenant about twitting the parties most concerned.

"Miss Pelham is a clever girl, much cleverer than Saunders would be if he were a girl," said Britt. "She's found out that he earns a thousand a year and that his mother is a very old woman. That shows foresight. She says she's just crazy about Long's, because she doesn't know where Hamersmith is. That shows discretion. She's anxious to see the boats at Putney and she's got a plan to get into about Kew gardens. That shows diplomacy. You see, Saunders lives in Hamersmith, not in Long's, and she's all alone with his mother, who owns the house and garden. It's all very appealing to Miss Pelham, who has got devilish tired of seeing the universe from a nineteenth street in Broadway."

"She's a very nice girl," agreed Bobby Brown.

"A very sunny one," added Deppingham, who had come a severe croup in his single attempt to interest her in a mild flirtation.

"She's off with Saunders now," went on Britt. "That's why you can't find him, my lord. If you really want him, however, I think you'd better stroll through the lower end of the park, but don't fail to shout."

"I do want him, confound him! I want to ask him how Long's is doing. He's left before our time is up on the island. Demmed annoying that I can't have legal advice when I—"

"How many days have you been here?"

"How the devil should I know? That's what we're for, Long's. He's supposed to tell us when to go home and all that sort of thing, you know."

Deppingham, phlegmatic soul, was forever disturbing Saunders with calls to duty, although Saunders was British enough in his British way to maintain in confidence, of course—that he was in the employ of Lady Deppingham or no one at all. Nevertheless he always lived under the shadow of duty. At any moment his lordship was liable to send for him to ask the time of day or some equally important question, and all that he had to do was to hurry to the door and answer.

First he confided in Britt soberly, sagely and in perfect good faith. Britt was bowled over. He stared at Saunders and gaped. Nearly two minutes elapsed before he could find words to reply, which proved conclusively that it must have been something of a shock to him. When at last he did express himself, however, there was nothing that could have been less usual—absolutely nothing. He went so far as to tell Saunders a dash of his own life, and a great many other things that Saunders had not in the least expected.

The Englishman was stolid. They had it back and forth, from legal and other points of view, and finally Britt gave in to his colleague, reserving the right to laugh when it was all over. Saunders, with a determination that surprised even himself, called for a conference of all parties in Wykeham's study at 4 o'clock.

"Now, what's it all about, Saunders?" demanded Deppingham, with a wide yawn. Saunders looked hurt.

"I'm a little way from the point, my lord," said Saunders, getting very red in the face. Miss Pelham looked up from her notebook quickly. The vision of any rumour should come up. We can't call 'em out of the sky as Chase did last night. Lucky beggar! That fellow Chase is righting, by Jove! That's what he is. I wish I was up his heart a bit and ask us into that devilish American bar of his."

after a big snowstorm or during a thaw, is simply awful. The other night I was coming up Athabasca avenue with my wife, and the path beaten in the snow was so narrow that we had to trail along like cattle.

I believe the city owns a horse snow plow. But you only see it on about once or twice a year."

Ald. Armstrong thought that the city solicitor should be instructed to get up a bylaw to make the citizens keep the sidewalks in front of their homes clear, and the city would look after the rest.

"The present bylaw is entirely inadequate," said Chief of Police Langry. "In my estimation it should include the territory south of the tracks. If such a bylaw were passed we would see that it was enforced."

In Calgary the city looks after the sidewalks, and inside of an hour or two after a snowstorm, the sidewalks are all cleared. Fort William, with weather conditions about the same as in Edmonton, and with a population of 25,000, keeps its sidewalks walks clear of snow. Montreal has large districts of the city in which the municipality does all the clearing of the snow, and the cost is charged up in a local improvement tax. In Toronto all tenants and property owners are required to clear the sidewalk in front of their property by nine o'clock in the morning. If they do not, they hear from the police department. Sidewalks in front of vacant lots and houses are cleaned by the city and the bill sent to the owners of the property.

CONTEST PRESENTS NEW LEADER TODAY

A Very Heavy Certificate Vote, and Something Stirring in Three of the Districts—82,000 of the Blue Certificates Swell the Scores of the Candidates

THREE MORE WORKING DAYS FOR BIG VOTES

A brand new leader in the contest today. Of course the margin is small, but it is sufficient to secure the position of honor. Those who are watching this contest besides the candidates and some of their most loyal supporters, should not get the notion that anyone has a cinch on any of the prizes. The prizes are yet to be won.

One candidate who entered the very last day nominations were accepted has made rapid strides. From the plain nomination of 1000 votes, she has gained a position right along the leaders.

This fact reduces the statement of made that it is too late to "get a handle on" it. It was stated some time ago in these daily contest stories that if some of the candidates had an idea that they could win a prize by simply remaining in the contest and trusting to luck, they would find themselves sadly mistaken. This prediction is proving true. The prizes are here, and it seems the candidates are getting there—and that's where they must be to have the satisfaction of winning.

He judges that their names as winners on the night of March 28.

If you expect to win a prize in the Capital's prize voting contest it is best to enter your name as early as possible, and to be successful or not. No halfhearted effort is ever yet a success. On the other hand, those who are animated by enthusiasm and confidence do not fail to reach their goal. Many a person has been kept off a pedestal by a lack of confidence in his own ability.

"How very sweet of you," she said, with a genuine smile that drew a shiver with its force.

"You don't seem to live together, of course," murmured Saunders, getting rather beyond his depth.

"Well, that's a concession on your part," said Mrs. Brown, a flash in her eye.

"I never heard of such an axline proposition," spluttered Deppingham. Saunders went completely under at that.

"On the other hand," he hastened to remark, "it is a very nice thing to be quite alone if you like to."

Nothing Succeeds Like Success.

Success attracts every one's attention and sympathy. All the world has a welcome for the person of pluck. Many a hand is stretched out to him who has climbed almost to the summit. No one wants to see such a person fall back. They stretch out their hands, give a little support, and there you are—right on top. The nearer you are to reaching the top, the more hands will be stretched out to help you. There is no place for the faint-hearted except at the rear ranks.

How About Your Reserve? Have you been guilty and laid aside a big bunch of votes for your reserve fund? This fund can scarcely be too large. Some are no doubt congratulating themselves that they are fairly safe with what they have held back. Remember that this is a game played by more than one, and you cannot possibly tell what the reserve strength of your rivals may be. The safe plan is to let go opportunity of building up your reserve vote escape you. Make the most of the next few days of the Extra Vote. There will never be another chance during the contest to get so many votes in a short time.

The schedule will be reduced next Tuesday. Suppose you think some of your opponents have more votes in reserve than you have. How did they get them? Just the same way you can. The ready lie in your hands. As far as the field being covered, there is nothing to it. While the business turned in at contest headquarters up to date has been most satisfactory, it is also very plain that there are many fertile fields for the gathering of thousands and thousands, and thousands of votes.

Don't forget to call on the short-term subscribers for extensions. If a subscriber gave you three months, you received 700 votes for it; if that subscriber increased the term to a full year you will get 5,300 more votes. If some other candidate secured the first three months and you get the next nine months, you will get the 5,300 votes just the same.

VOTING SCHEDULE UNTIL MARCH 14.

This schedule will remain in force until the above date, after which a greatly reduced schedule will prevail.

"THE MAN FROM BRODNEYS"

For the benefit of those who did not read the first instalments of George Barr McCutcheon's great serial "The Man from Brodneys," now running in the Capital, the following summary is given:

Taswell Skaggs and Jack Wyckholme, after some domestic infelicity, each left England for the Far East. They met in Shanghai and joined in an enterprise to exploit the wealth of the island of Japan, which they bought from the natives for a song. It abounded in rubies and other precious stones and for thirty years they carried on operations there, growing very wealthy and keeping out of touch with friends at home. When they were old men they discovered that each had a grandchild. Skaggs' daughter had married an American, named Browne, and had a son. Wyckholme's daughter had a daughter, Agnes Ruthven by name. They made a will each leaving his share of the property to the survivor. Wyckholme died just a little while afterward. Skaggs fell into the crater of a volcano. At the opening of the story, Skaggs' second will, made after Wyckholme's death, is puzzling the lawyers. The two grandchildren, must marry within a year to secure the property or the entire island reverts to the natives. Sir John Abercrombie of London, is named as Wyckholme's executor and Alfred Bowen, of Boston, as Skaggs'. What complicates matters is that both children are already married. Wyckholme's daughter is Lady Deppingham. The question is, how, with the situation as it is, the vast estate is to be saved from the natives. On the advice of their lawyers, both Browne and Lady Deppingham set out for the island. Browne takes his wife, to whom he protests that he would not give her up for all the world. Lord Deppingham is hard up. Both sides realize the advantage of working together, against the natives. The third chapter introduces Hollingworth Chase, a young American of fair means, large prospects, but simple habits of life, who is representing the American government in the small American duchy of Rapp Thorberg. He has become much interested in the beautiful Princess Geneva, daughter of the Grand Duke. The fourth chapter finds him at a reception at the ducal palace.

He happens to see a man making himself obnoxious to the princess, throws him outside the garden gate, only to discover that he is the hereditary prince of Breheta, to whom the princess is engaged. She doesn't seem to mind his action, but his position becomes insecure.

The fifth and sixth chapters find the Deppinghams arrived at Japan, with Mr. Saunders, the lawyer's clerk. They find the natives very unfriendly. Accompanied by Mr. Bowles, British representative in the island, they repair to the chateau of the former proprietors.

The next morning the Brownes put in an appearance.

The servants go on strike, but are brought back through the resources of Browne's lawyer, Brit, who threatens them with the visit of a United States battleship. The two families live in different parts of the chateau. Lord Deppingham becomes convinced that the servants are trying to poison him.

On the advice of Von Blitz, the German Superintendent, the natives engage the great English firm, headed by Sir John Brodneys, to look after their interests. A member of the firm eventually arrives, and is an object of much mystery. The Brownes and Deppinghams do not know his name but learn he is an American. The mystery is deepened by the news that he has had a falling out with Von Blitz and given him a sound thrashing.

3. Being just outside the city limits, no city taxes.
4. Close to the West End City Park.
5. Edmonton's best property is like every other city of note. Going west.
6. Dominion Park is just far enough from the Grand Trunk and also the C.P.R. Shops to be clear of dust, noise and smoke.
7. The vendors are negotiating to have the telephone to the property.
8. On the main road to Killarney, the big lake coming pleasure resort for boating, bathing, shooting and fishing.

9. A new school just built close to the property.

Penalties

G. Banford, 2; McKenney, 2; Crawford, 2; Black, 2; McGammon, 1; Banks, 1.

The Play

Game started at 8:40 with a series of off-sides and Banks gets away only to lose to Deaton who rushes with Boulton and McKenney. McDowell steals and Edmonton gets puck and forces game. McGammon and Boulton take down and Bailey gets possession and kicks puck. Deaton takes shot which Bailey blocks and rushes himself. MacGammon gets in front of him but play is around Edmonton goal.

Deaton goes length of rink and gets a shot but it does no damage. Banks receives and passes offside to Bailey. latter hooks Deaton and a few words are bandied about. Crawford obtains disc from a mix-up and slides down ice and the play waxes a little rough. Bill Banford makes a spiral rush and crosses to McKenney who receives a easy dump from the busy Mr. Bailey. A. Leach smooches down rink and Banford is waiting to receive him. Black sends in two shots, which Jack gobbles up and asks for more. McKenney and Bill again attempt a combination and Freddy takes another duck overcraft. Black rushes down right hands and visiting forwards force the play for a minute but the Edmonton team quickly get away and seem almost sure to score. McGammon and Deaton being particularly conspicuous. Banks gets possession and crosses to Crawford who loses to G. Banford. Latter rushes and tips to Boulton who delays too long and misses his shot. Same player and also Deaton get chance a moment later and Leach clears handily. Crawford takes down and passes offside to A. Leach. MacKenney gets draw and crosses to Boulton and he loses to Macdowell, and he in turn to G. Banford who sends in a hard chance.

Several Penalties.

G. Banford and McKenney get two minutes and Crawford one, for trailing offences and the game proceeds merrily on its way. Bert takes down and loses to Black who transfers play to Edmonton end. Just here Jack Winchester pulled off the play of the evening when he stopped a shot from Black which looked like a sure counter-attack. Black gets two minutes for slashing.

Second Half

Black still on fence. Gordon starts out with rush and crosses to McGammon who shoots over nets and does same thing on the rebound. Same player brings out in front of goal and a score is narrowly averted by Bailey who sweeps rubber out of danger. Both lines are checking close and forwards can't get away.

McGammon now gets one minute for playing too hard and Prince Albert take advantage of his absence to send in two shots which are correctly handled a la Winchester. Banks gets a nasty crack on head but pluckily resumes after a two minute delay. Crawford swoops down and tries Jack. Gordon recovers and rushes but pass is offside. Deaton gets from faceoff and makes a pretty play, evading on his journey a number of well-meant trips. The shot is swift and straight but Leach blocks it. McKenney and Boulton make a pretty end rush and are stopped by McDowell.

Banks Gets Sentence

Banks gets two minutes for tripping Deaton and nearly draws a punch in the face from our captain. Be careful, Banks! Deet takes down and loses to Bailey who crosses to Crawford. Latter rushes and loses to McGammon. Mac sends in a wicked shot. Deaton's playing magnificently and the spectators are wild with excitement as Bill Banford and McKenney make desperate assault on the Prince Albert nets. Bert has a chance, shot wide. Same player and Bill Banford take down and Leach makes wonderful save just before time is up.

ZANTI FROM SPAGHETTI LAND

Al. Copland has a Brand New Marathon—Has a Defeat Over Dorando to his Credit.

Fortunata Zanti, the famous Italian runner, who has just reached New York, with two victories over Dorando to his credit, will make his first appearance in the twenty-mile race which will be held in Madison Square Garden on Monday evening, March 14. Zanti has secured Al. Copland, the famous ex-coach of the Princeton athletic team, to look after his training while in this country, and is now working at Sheepshead Bay. Zanti certainly looks the runner from head to foot, and the fact that he defeated Dorando by over 300 yards in a race of eleven miles is proof that he is the class. He will meet Holmer, Johanson, Kjingsstrom, Crowley, Schlen, and maybe Meadows, who may try the 20 miles. Powers offered to make a 10-mile go if Shrubbs would start, but Shrubbs's leg is too weak for such a struggle.

WANDERERS DEFEAT CANADIENNES

Montreal, March 9.—The Wanderers, the new hockey champions, played their last league game tonight, defeating the Canadians 11-6. During the Halibury defeat, when two regulars were off the team, the Wanderers have not been beaten this season.

The new champions have been called on to defend the Stanley cup in a sudden death game here Saturday night against the Berlin champions of the Ontario pro. league. Tonight's lineup was as follows:

Wanderers.	Goal	Canadiens
Hern	Goal	Cattaranich.
Marshall	Point	Lavolette
Johnston	Cover	Pitric
Glass	Rowe	Poulin
Russell	Centre	Bernier
Hyland	Right Wing	Leduc

Buy Cockshutt Farm Implements.

They Last Longer—Therefore Cost Less

Last longer, because they are made of the very finest materials and are built by mechanics who command the best wages in the farm implement business. Write to-day to a Cockshutt Catalogue—it shows exactly what tools you should have to make your farm pay you big profits.

No. 1 Out-Throw Disc Harrow

This Out-Throw Disc Harrow is a model of simplicity and strength. It has the weight necessary to slay with hard soil without the use of weight boxes. The arched frame is extra heavy, being made of special high carbon steel, 7" shaped, and the gangs swing directly on the ends of the arch.

The inner ends of the gangs are held down firmly, preventing the centre of the Harrow from rising out of the ground—thus the Discs always cut uniformly no matter at what angle they are set. Convenient foot levers control the scrapers and as the scrapers are wide enough to cover a large area of the discs the latter are always kept clean. All bearings are dust proof.

The bumpers on the inner ends of the gangs bear against each other, relieving the frame from all strain arising from end thrust.

We use hard maple boxings because they last longer than any other style and can be replaced at smaller cost. You will be surprised how light this Harrow draws.

The name "Cockshutt" is the strongest guarantee of quality you could wish for, in any farm implement. We manufacture over 120 styles of plows, in addition to seeding machines, harrows, land packers and a wide range of agricultural tools. Whatever you want is in our Catalogue, so write for copy to-day, or SEE THE COCKSHUTT DEALER.

BRANTFORD BREAKER

BRANTFORD BREAKER

A plow unexcelled for prairie work. Notice the solid, sturdy frame built entirely of the finest grade white oak—flexible enough to stand the hard jabs of rough or trashy ground. For very rough work the beam can be reinforced by a strong steel strap, bolted to the under side and bracing the entire length of the plow. Plows from 2 to 8 inches deep. Made with 12, 14, and 16 inch bottoms, rolling cutters, fin cutters or knife cutters. Our Brush Breaker is another plow built along similar lines, though much heavier. Both these plows are specially adapted for Western Canadian conditions.

Our No. 92 is a combination plow which should appeal to every economical farmer. It does excellent stubble plowing and we also ship a breaker board which can be fitted to the plow within a few minutes. Wherever light soil prevails, we recommend our No. 10 Combination plow which is built similar to No. 92, but lighter. Being of all steel construction it will give perfect satisfaction either as a breaker or stubble plow.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bearshall, Macdonald avenue, was operated on on Saturday last for the removal of a brooch which the child had attempted to swallow. The brooch lodged in the air passages of the throat making the operation extremely difficult. On Tuesday last the child died. The statement of the doctor in attendance was that death was due to pneumonia.

Lessard, Marshall, Moore, Cornwall, Puffer, and Walker. Of the insurance agents there were McDougall, Dr. Campbell, Smith, Stewart, Holden, Riley, Glendinning and Dr. Warrick. All present at the caucus were both to discuss the result of the meeting, many being content to state that the situation was unchanged. Another meeting will be held tonight.

Further information has leaked out as to the caucus held at the noon hour yesterday. The proposal was then discussed of having Praxider Ruthers, full red, and having either C. W. Cross called upon to form a cabinet, or have an outsider called into do so, in the person of either Chief Justice Sifton or Senator Talbot. It is understood that Attorney-General Cross intimated to his followers that he would take a good deal of persuasion to accede to the proposal. His supporters, however, feel that the ex-Attorney-General is no "quitter."

The humdrum of an ordinary day is all that can be looked for in the future this afternoon.

Marks Bros. at the Empire.
Marks Bros., who have been entertaining splendid audiences at the Edmonton Opera House for the past nine nights, will conclude their engagement at the Empire Theatre this week opening tonight (Thursday) in that wonderful play, "Two Nights in Rome," a play dealing with what transpires in the apartments of an English family in that short period. The Edmonton and Prince Albert teams are invited to occupy boxes this evening.

Seats now on sale at the box office for the balance of the engagement. An amateur contest is slated for Friday night.

Starland

The last changes of programme at this very popular theatre have been exceptionally good, and the large crowds which have attended have been more than satisfied with the pictures. The famous poem of Whittier, "Maud Muller" as interpreted by the Essancy Co., caused much favorable comment. The spirit which moved the great poet finds expression again in a simple sweet story. The pathos of the "Might have been" could not fail to affect each one, and the whole poem took on a most life-like aspect. In the "Better Way," the biograph have chosen a beautiful subject from that most poetic time, the Puritan age. Elizabeth loved a young sailor from Samuel Sylvester; for her mother's sake she accepted the wealthy old squire. The former sweetheart still continued his attentions and she, blinded by love, did not consider that such conduct was not honorable. Her husband became acquainted with her and, in a fit of jealousy, he shot her. The views were highly educational and the story itself is one of the deepest interest.
